APGU DOWNS TRY AT WEAKENING OF FORENSIC SYSTEM

Dean Addresses the Student Body on New Student Campaign

A heated debate on a proposed amendment to the student constitution featured the first meeting of the Associated Students in the 1935 semester last Wednesday morning.

The amendment provided for the annual election of the debate monoger by the executive council at the beginning of the fourth quarter. Under the present system, the debate manager is voted on by the A.P.G.U.

Floyd Leads Attack

An organized attack on the amendment by the A.P.G.U. succeeded in downing the measure by a 3 to 1 vote. Henry Floyd, Arthur Mott and Richard Vail led the opposition. The unsuccessful fight by the proponents of the idea was led by Edward Ryan.

Brother James, dean of the College, delivered a stirring appeal to the students for active cooperation in the widespread campaign for new students.

Only mediocre success in the advance sale for the lecture, which Brother Leo is to give for the student body on Monday night, was reported by president Noel Sherry, who urged complete student backing for this event.

Debate Awards Given

Arthur Mott and Edward Barry were given their debate awards for having competed in seven inter-collegiate forensic clashes.

Progress of the "Gael," to date, was reported on by Philip Brady, editor. He expressed satisfaction with the work up to now.

As a conclusion to this highly interesting meeting, Havelock Hunter completed the peace poll, which The Collegian conducted among the students.

League Defeated In Campus Peace Poll

Saint Mary's students believe that the United States can stay out of another great war, will fight if their country is invaded, but will not fight if the United States invades another nation.

They also want a large navy, government control of munitions and conscription of industries in time of war, and are definitely opposed to the League of Nations.

These are the results brought out in The Collegian Peace Poll conducted at the student body meeting yesterday.

This poll conducted by The Collegian had no connection with that sponsored by The Literary Digest and other organizations except that it used the same questions.

Complete returns from the vote will be found on Page 4.

Saint Mary's Club In Spring Smoker

In announcing their second annual spring smoker and jinks, which will be held Wednesday at the Knights of Columbus Hall, the members of the Saint Mary's Club promise another evening chock-full of amusement. The program is scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock.

Entertainment will be supplied by songs, dances and comedians. Motion pictures of last season's outstanding football contests will be shown. Films of the Stanford-Alabama, Saint Mary's -California, and the East-West games are included.

This will be the club's first opportunity to welcome Earl Sheely, the Phoenix's new coach. Red Strader and Vince McNally are other members of the college coaching staff who will attend the affair.

Guest football players include the Saint Mary's senior members of the varsity squad, Al Nichelini, Felix Pennino, Walter Minogue and Walter

Ex Councilmen Lose Dignity at Session

Hunter and Day Almost Come to Blows on Differences

Without doubt, this week's session of the Executive Council, which happened to follow an interesting student body meeting, was the most dynamic of the term.

John Day, secretary of the student body, was "called upon the carpet" to explain his laxity in carrying out the duties of his office. Mr. Day unleashed a display of wrath, the likes of which have never been witnessed in previous meetings.

Day Flayed

Not to be outdone, the Council launched an attack upon the irate commuter from all sides, hurling questions, accusations, implications, etc., without restraint. Non-members who were present chuckled at "the battle of wits," which by this time saw Havelock Hunter, Collegian editor displaying more animation than anyone present.

In the lull after the storm, it was discovered that Day had neglected to inform the Council of the fact that he had carried out certain duties, and therefore he was put "on the spot" through his own neglect. If the session did nothing else, it provided plenty of fireworks.

Brother Leo's Talk

Reports were made on the sale of tickets for Brother Leo's lecture next Monday evening, and a committee of Tipton and Weber was appointed to solicit the use of the Lounge at noon for the day scholars.

Jack Sutcliffe announced that he would tour San Francisco on Friday to see about new windshield stickers.

Arthur Mott was appointed by the Council to attend the Fellowship League dinner with Noel Sherry this evening in Oakland.

English Instructor Visions Revival of American Drama

"The American drama is undergoing a definite revival in this country." This is the opinion of Mr. E. J. Smiddy, of the English Department, who calls attention to the fact that at present all but three of New York's large number of playhouses are presenting a legitimate attraction.

This, says Mr. Smiddy, is the greatest number of theatrical productions in New York since 1927 or thereabouts.

Helped By New Deal

"One of the reasons for this revival is the change of mind the American people are expressing with the advent of the New Deal," said the professor. "Another reason is the realization among competent stage stars who have gained greater success in movies that they must have the rigorous training of the stage to keep their screen work at its best."

Whether the revival of the stage will reach to the West Coast, is hard to tell, he declared. "The only city on the Pacific Coast that would prove profitable to a legitimate attraction is San Francisco. Los Angeles is too moving-picture minded. Long trips are hardly justified for a single engagement in San Francisco."

However, there is another side to the picture. Mr. Smiddy states that the close proximity of Hollywood to San Francisco enables motion picture people who come from the stage to appear in plays between pictures. An instance of this was "Merrily We Roll Along," presented in San Francisco recently, in which the company was comprised almost exclusively of moving picture actors who, at the same time were competent stage actors.

Rvival Is Permanent

The English instructor contended further that the revival is permanent.

NBC Radio Debates Begin Tomorrow; Gaels Meet Broncs

Opening the new intercollegiate debate broadcasts for the spring semester, Saint Mary's speakers will exchange arguments with representatives of the University of Santa Clara on Saturday afternoon. The National Broadcasting Company, by means of station KGO, will release the program at 1:30 p.m.

The important labor question, "Resolved: That all collective bargaining should be negotiated through non-company unions safeguarded by law" is the topic for the radio discussion.

Philip Brady and John Rossi are to support the proposition for Saint Mary's. Their opponents will be Richard W. Morton and George W. Scott.

Cross-Questions Feature

Cross-questioning, in a manner similar to the Oregon forensic's plan, will be a feature of the argument. Decisions will be rendered by the radio public who are to be asked to judge the victor. The announcement of the winner will be made on the following Saturday.

Two errors were made in the list of engagements published here last week. Corrected, they are:

March 2—California vs. San Francisco. "Resolved: That economic nationalism should be adopted as a policy in America."

March 9—Saint Mary's vs. Stanford. "Resolved: That the affairs of the world should be entrusted to youth."

(The first named team has the affirmative).

Seven other broadcasts are included in the weekly series which will continue until April 27, inclusive.

ASSMC President to Speak on Tolerance

Student Body President Noel Sherry will spend the greater part of his week-end in the cause of tolerance, for this purpose addressing three religious groups of the Bay Region.

Last night he and Miss Rose Adele Gianella, student president at Holy Names, were speakers at the organization banquet of the Junior Fellowship of Oakland, the first fellowship ever attempted in the United States among young people of different faiths.

Miss Rachel Hirsberg was the prime organizer of this movement and the moving spirit of the dinner last night at Hotel Claridge.

Tonight Sherry will speak on tolerance at a dinner to be given by the A. Z. A., a junior Jewish organization, at Temple Saini in Oakland.

Then on Sunday evening he will address the congregation of the First Christian Church at Fairmont and 29th Streets in Oakland on "The Catholic Church and Toleration."

Dr. W. P. Reagor is pastor of the First Christian Church.

Speakers Analyze New Medicine Plan

Last evening two members of the varsity forensic squad met the Newman Hall debaters for the second time of the current semester, in one of the few decision debates this semester. The decision was awarded to Saint Mary's. The question discussed was: "Resolved: That the Practice of Medicine Should Be Socialized in the United States.

Cornelio Baca and William Simon, both sophomores, represented Saint Mary's, while Miss Clothilde Brouchoud and Robert Conley spoke for the club. Saint Mary's took the negative side of the question, and Newman Hall presented the affirmative.

The negative based their main contentions on the fact that the medical profession should undertake control rather than the state, because state control would bring medicine into politics, resulting in graft, favoritism and nespotism.

The affirmative side showed various advantages of socialization, and demonstrated how state control would better the present conditions.

The judges were Eddie Cone and David Taylor, both graduates of Saint Mary's.

Local Knights Begin Catholic Action Drive

The Knights of Columbus mobilization for Catholic Action began taking shape on the campus Wednesday evening when Mario Gaione, deputy grand knight of the local council, was appointed chairman of the Saint Mary's Council mobilization committee.

His selection as campus chief for the drive was made at a meeting of representatives of the Bay region units at the Hotel Whitcomb in San Francisco.

At the meeting eighteen councils were represented and fifteen grand knights attended. State Deputy William T. Sweigert presided.

Dancing Hours at Prom Extended

With a double-barrel announcement that the selection of favors for their gala affair has been completed, and that dancing at the Junior Prom will continue from 9 until 1:30, third year leaders last night dropped another new social bombshell into student ranks.

In keeping with the high tempo which the Prom will maintain, the committee in charge of selecting favors for the young ladies was especially careful to make a thorough survey of the situation as it was in the past.

Gathering all of the favors used in the last six years, they worked for one which would even prove more pleasing to all, and their long efforts have been well-rewarded.

Sssh! It's a Big Secret

Because it is always a secret as to just what the favors are, we cannot announce in these columns their nature, but suffice to say that receipt of one of them would be fitting compensation in itself for being present at San Francisco's St. Francis Yacht Club on the night of March 1.

And, along with the news that the "best favors in six years" have been selected, comes the cheering word that dancing will continue from 9 until 1:30, a half hour longer than any previous Prom.

Leaders of the class did this only at a great expense but they believe that the extra money paid out will more than be returned by this extra half hour, the need of which was so vitally seen at last year's Senior Ball.

Gives Advantage To All

This extension of dancing time will give late arrivals from the East Bay and other distant points more time to dance, less danger will be incurred

Six Upper Division Men On Who's Who

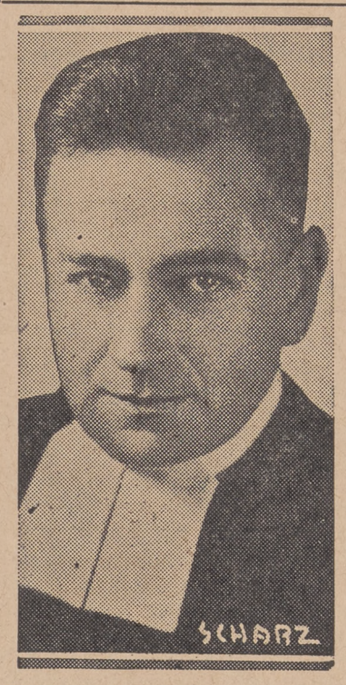
Announcement was made this week of six upper division men whose biographies are to be published in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

To date these six, from a total of fourteen names submitted, have been informed of their acceptance by the editor of the college Blue Book. They are: Havelock H. Hunter, editor of The Collegian; Noel Sherry, president of the Associated Students; Martin Hill, sports editor of The Collegian, varsity basketball manager, swimming ace, member of Athletic Bureau and president of the Press Club; Sam McCullagh, vice-president of the Associated Students and chairman of the executive council; Henry Floyd, Senior Class president and president of the A.P.G.U.; Philip Brady, Gael editor.

The book is edited by H. Pettus Randall, former student president of the University of Alabama, and Alden W. Smith, A.S.U.C. president. Because selection is based on the career in college juniors and seniors alone are chosen.

Students selected are notified by the editors and requested to compile a history of their collegiate careers and to submit it and a photograph to be used in local papers.

To Solve Puzzle



In the student body benefit lecture next Monday, Brother Leo will speak on Gertrude Stein, "eccentric non-rhyming, non-scanning, non-verbing poetic sensation," along with James Joyce and Ernest Hemingway.

Assistant Superior On Campus for Visit

Brother Philip Here On Inspection Tour

The Reverend Brother Abban Philip, Assistant to the Superior General, arrived on the campus Tuesday for a short visit, during which time he will confer with the college officials and inspect the routine of the school.

Brother Philip has been Assistant Superior General for the last twelve years, being elected for the first time in May 1923, and was re-elected by an unanimous vote in 1934 during the last General Chapter of the Order held at Lembecq-lez-Hal, in Belgium.

Previous to the appointment, Brother Abban Philip held many important positions in the Congregation, among these the Director of Novices for the District of New York. In this capacity he had as one of his novices Brother Bede Edward, the present Director of the Scholasticate. Brother Philip also held the position of Provincial of the provinces of Baltimore and New York.

There are eleven other Assistant Superior Generals assigned to various provinces of the Congregation throughout the world and it is their duty to visit their provinces at appointed intervals and it is for this reason that Brother Philip is visiting the campus at the present time as Saint Mary's College comes in his province.

At the Mother House in Belgium these twelve assistants, together with the Superior General, constitute the Regime, or the highest governing body of the Institute of the Brothers of the Christian Schools.

INTEREST RISES IN BROTHER LEO LECTURE MONDAY

Coming Visit of Miss Stein Draws Added Attention to Event

The Associated Students will make their debut as an educational agency of the college on Monday evening when they sponsor a lecture by Brother Leo at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Golden Gate Avenue in San Francisco.

Brother Leo will speak on the works and merits of three outstanding contemporary writers, Gertrude Stein, James Joyce and Ernest Hemingway, for this first educational venture of the student body. These authors in particular were selected as a result of popular request.

Support Activities

Proceeds from the affair will be used by the ASSMC to support debating, journalism, dramatics, and other extra-curricular and non-athletic activities for the remainder of the school year.

General admission will be seventy-five cents, while a limited number of reserved seats will be on sale for a dollar. Tickets may be purchased from Sherman Clay & Co. in San Francisco, from Noel Sherry, or from any member of the committee in charge, or on the evening of the lecture.

Draws Attention

Interest in Brother Leo's lecture has heightened due to the coming visit of Miss Stein to the Bay Region, while the recent court decision lifting the ban on James Joyces' works in this country has created additional interest.

Among the notables who will be present at the lecture are: His Grace, Archbishop Hanna, Mayor Rossi and Bishop Parsons of the Episcopal diocese of San Francisco.

Music Also

Musical entertainment for the evening will be provided by Joseph Alioto and John Soares. Alioto will play two numbers, "The Old Refrain" and "Play, Fiddle, Play," on his violin. He will be accompanied on the piano by Soares.

Havelock Hunter, Thomas Twomey, Henry Floyd, Noel Sherry and Jack Sutcliff are taking care of the arrangements. The lecture starts at eight o'clock.

Brother James To Drop Teaching Temporarily

Commencing yesterday, Brother Bede Edward took over the education courses of Brother James. Brother Edward is at present director of the Student Brothers, and also teaches Spanish. He holds a doctor's degree in Education.

Brother James, who is dean of the college, was forced to resign his courses because of the press of other duties.

Gael Photography Nearing Finish, Sales to be Pushed

The taking of pictures for the Gael is nearing completion, according to Phil Brady, editor of the annual year book. The majority of upper and lower division students have reported for photography, yet there are still several who have not come in at the designated time. There is a limited time for photography, and all those who fail to show up will not have their pictures in the book.

It was stated by Brady that more zeal must be shown by the student body in the purchase of the book. Many men are representing the Gael in ticket selling, and it will be appreciated if as many as possible make a down payment on the book.

Limited Number

The reason for the request being that only a limited number of books will be printed. Those who fail to order in advance may be without a book, due to a last minute rush. The staff hopes that the student body will support the Gael 100 per cent.

The success of the book will greatly depend on advertising. This must be stimulated as it is the staff's only means of securing funds. Any student interested in advertising work on the Gael, please see Maurice O'Connor, advertising manager.

Class Meeting Slated

The class promises to issue the most outstanding copy of the Gael. All members of the class of "36" are urged to attend a meeting which will be announced later, to be held next week. It is of vital importance.

"The book this year is a test case," stated Phil Brady, editor, "deciding whether or not the project can be made financially worth while to continue in the future."

BASKETEERS FACE DONS SATURDAY EVE CIVIC AUDITORIUM

Gael Hoopsters Meet U.S.F. Saturday Nite in Last Game

Tonight's court fracas between Saint Mary's and the University of San Francisco, which rings down the curtain for both teams, has all the earmarks of being as hard fought a battle as the big imbroglio between the football squads of the two schools that so appropriately closed the grid season last December.

Of course there probably won't be any Bucky O'Connor to come out of nowhere and steal the ball game in phenomenal fashion, nor a knock-'em-down-drag-'em out type of play in tonight's game, but the sparks are sure to fly, nevertheless.

Close Battle Seen

With the return to form of the Gaels, combined with their natural incentive to take the first series in history from the Dons, as well as to close a very successful season in victory, Civic Auditorium should see a bitterly fought see-saw game.

What measure of success the Moragans may anticipate, will to a great extent, be determined by how effectively they hold the big gun of the Cameron attack, lanky Joe Murphy, in check.

The Don captain and center uses his height to good advantage under the hoop, particularly on tip-in shots. In the recent trouncing the Gaels suffered at the hands of the San Franciscans, Murphy rained shots at the Saint Mary's hoop all night, and alone was responsible for some 15 points.

Meade's Swan Song

Unless the varsity decides to enter the P.A.A. Tournament, Captain Billy Meade will be donning togs for the Red and Blue for the last time tonight, as will the hard working Bill Scott and Slim Dowdall.

In the preliminary, Coach El Lang's Gaelets will try to make it a three in a row over the Don babes.

Probable lineups:

Gaels	Pos.	Dons
Bill Meade	F	Joe Patton
Monty Olsen	F	Ed Lewis
Al Nelson	C	Joe Murphy
Bud Hanna	G	Phil Garcia
Don Raffanti	G	Kirk Armistead

Local Nine Beats Mission Rooks, 7-1

Behind the flawless pitching of Steeley and Flanagan, the Phoenix trounced the Mission Red Rookies of the Pacific Coast League, 7 to 1 Friday. Saint Mary's played perfect ball in the field besides showing the much sought for punch at the plate.

For six innings it was a pitchers' battle with neither team being able to shove across more than one run. Flanagan was especially effective for the local lads, striking out several batters besides picking two men off of first base.

However, the fireworks started in the seventh canto when walks by Magrini and Desimone, followed by successive singles by Snead, Hinkley and Harris netted four runs. Errors by the Missions added two more digits to the total to give the Phoenix six runs for the inning and a lead of 7 to 1, which they maintained for the rest of the game.

Ancil Magrini hit a long triple while Harris garnered three hits to star for the winners. The victory was significant in view of the fact that the best California could do with the Missions was a 1 to 1 tie.

Spring Practice

SCHEDULED FOR MONDAY

Assured of the continued services of his able first lieutenant, "Red" Strader, the Gael's head man, "Slip" Madigan, will Monday call together the remnants of his gridiron squad for the opening of Spring practice, the first appearance of the '35 season.

In view of the heavy ten-game schedule facing his Saint Mary's varsity, Coach Madigan is desirous of getting off to an early start. To go through a strenuous season calls for perfect condition on the players' part if they are to avoid the various injuries resulting from lack of condition.

Seven familiar lettermen will be missing when "Slip" greets the players for the first time Monday. Graduation has reduced the ranks by four. Captain Felix Pennino and "Ambling Al" Nichelini, after three years of sturdy services, have answered the call of graduation, as have "Banty" Minogue and "Red" Harris, capable reserves for the past several seasons.

Studies Take Toll

Three other lettermen, Elduayan, Mattos and Yezerski, have been dismissed from the squad, due to scholastic deficiencies. They have in all probability played their last collegiate contest.

Several very promising freshmen will get their first taste of varsity football when they report Monday. From Vince McNally's strong Frosh eleven that dropped but two games, comes Syl Rimassa, one of the best looking triple-threat artists to perform for the yearlings in many seasons. Yotz Klotovich, who shared the left-half berth with him, should also prove valuable if he returns to school.

Frank Ferreira looked good as a blocking back, as did Orv Mulqueeney and Tony Falkenstein, fullbacks, and Gene Sullivan, quarter.

Frosh Linemen Promising

Several openings in the line should provide opportunities for Carl Orth and "Wilbur" Wilkins, tackles; Leo Scatena, Tony Boehle, and center Gerard will also work their way into the picture.

PENNINO ELECTED FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

At Monday's meeting of the football lettermen, Felix Pennino, varsity left end for the last three seasons, was elected captain for the 1934 football season. Captain Pennino, who has been one of the outstanding ends on the coast since his sophomore year on the varsity, hails from Los Angeles where he played not only footbabll but also plenty of basketball for Lincoln High School.

Pennino finished his football career in a grand and spectacular fashion this year when he played a great game of ball for the West in the annual East-West Shrine game on New Year's Day. After this game Pennino was invited to play with the Pacific Coast All-Star team in Honolulu and after starring in this game he was extended an invitation to play in China but was forced to decline this offer due to his studies.

At the meeting, the most valuable player was also voted upon, as was also the player who was the best sportsman throughout the season. The returns from this election will not be made public until the night of the President's Banquet.

Arleigh's Back Again

Presenting Arleigh Williams, Golden Bear star athlete, who will talk to Gael batters once again Saturday afternoon, as Saint Mary's and California open their regular intercollegiate pennant chase against each other at Edwards Field. Williams is a sweet catcher, an All-American halfback, and an honor student at Berkeley.

Local Tennis Men Meet Marin Today

Today at 2 p.m. the Gael tennis team will be in Kentfield to open their season against the Marin J. C. netmen.

Dick Schuman will again be the local No. 1 man, having disposed of all other members of the team handily. Close on Schuman's heels is Clarence Garibotti, who will be in the No. 2 spot today. Tom Wood and Captain Percy Goldstein, the two three-year veterans, will be No. 3 and No. 4, respectively.

From Slip Madigan's football ranks come two linesmen to fill the two remaining positions on the team. Big Herm Meister has won the No. 5 job, and Ev Pendelton will handle the No. 6 spot.

Coach Lloyd Budge has opened negotiations with several of the East Bay colleges endeavoring to interest them in a tennis league. The league would be composed of Saint Mary's, Santa Clara, USF, San Francisco State Teachers College, San Mateo J. C., and the College of Pacific. It is hardly likely that the league will be organized this season as most of the schools have already completed their schedules. Furthermore Budge has yet to receive definite sanction from Athletic Director "Slip" Madigan to proceed with the league idea.

Gael Freshmen Down Ed's Buffet

The Gael Frosh nine came through in the form that was expected of them when they trounced Ed's Buffet, an Oakland semi-pro team, 6 to 1, Saturday. The yearlings hit hard and often, and also played good ball in the field.

Barsotti pitched for the winners and the Oakland outfit was only able to gather three hits from his offerings, while the Saints pasted Raimondi, of the Buffet nine, for 10 hits and 6 runs in the abbreviated game of seven innings. Sullivan, Kelleher and Herberger all fattened their averages with two hits each.

Saturday morning the Saint Mary's Frosh will attempt to continue their winning ways when they take the Anglo-California Bank of San Francisco on the local diamond. Whalen will probably start for the Babes.

Frosh Bucketeers To Oppose Donlets

Langmen Seek Third Win in Last Game of Season

Though the Saint Mary's Frosh have already clinched their series with the Don Freshmen, a third game will be played Saturday night as a preliminary to the varsity contest.

However, even if the game is only being used to fill out the program, it promises to be a real thriller. In the last fracas, with the Dons leading with only seven minutes to go, the Gaelets put on a scoring spree that was not to be denied and they emerged with a 38-33 win.

Minehan, Jenkins and Shock have been continually the outstanding Frosh hoopsters, excelling both offensively and defensively, and with these three in the line-up, the Dons are guaranteed a most interesting evening.

Have Won Twice

Although defeated twice by the Gael Frosh, San Francisco is far from a setup, as they showed by downing the Stanford Babes, and they undoubtedly have ideas that three losses to Saint Mary's in one session would be just a little too much.

Lang, Worthington and Seeno form the nucleus of the Don squad that is determined in this third attempt to make up for their previous upsets.

Varsity Cagers Win Reno Doubleheader

Exhibiting altogether too much class for the University of Nevada hoopsters, the Gaels handily won a double header on Friday and Saturday nights at the college court in Reno. McNally's team won the opener 47-28, and the second game 54-27.

In both tussles the Wolves held their own for the first ten minutes but their inferiority soon came into evidence. The ball eluded them like a greased pig, and in the meantime the Moragans were bolstering their margin. Hanna, Meade and Barnes were particularly effective with their good shooting.

PHOENIX NINE FACES BEARS SATURDAY IN BASEBALL 'NATURAL'

Flanagan to Open on Mound For Locals in the First Intercollegiate Battle

Coach Earl Sheeley's Saint Mary's Phoenix, instilled with a fighting spirit reminiscent of Gael teams of yesteryear, and boasting the league's outstanding pitching staff, open their drive for the Intercollegiate League championship Saturday at Edwards Field opposing Clint Evans' defending Champs, the California Golden Bears.

Pitching, usually the Saint Mary's bugaboo, has suddenly, almost overnight, developed into the Gael strong forte, due principally to the presence of three sophomore hurlers, Flanagan, Cleone and Steeley.

Owens Catches

Behind the plate for his second year of varsity play is Johnny "Gabby" Owens, robust junior. Ancil Magrini, another letterman, will hold down the first sack, while the keystone position is being guarded by veteran Johnny Marinovich in the absence of Bud Hanna.

A weakness at the short patch is being capably filled by another sophomore, Ray Desimone, who has improved with each game. "Bucky" Harris, who played short in '34 has been shifted to third and the move has smoothed out the play of the infield.

Little "Poolie" Snead, the third sophomore in the starting lineup, holds down the left field garden. "Hops" Ewart, a veteran of three seasons, returns to the center-field job, with Jim Flynn, a made-over pitcher, and Al Hinkley, transfer from Modesto JC, putting on a great race for the right pasture.

Raise Flag

While the Moragans are banking on their star chuckers to carry them through, aided by a hard hitting outfield, the Bears are resting solely on their equally strong string of chuckers.

Flag raising ceremonies will precede the contest, with the first ball scheduled to be thrown at 2:30. Bands of both schools will be in attendance to enliven the afternoon.

GAEL GLANCES

By Martin Hill

Saturday is clean-up day. It always has been. But never before so much as it will be this particular Saturday for Saint Mary's baseballers and basketballers.

The Phoenix will launch their conference season with the Bears at Berkeley in the afternoon. The Varsity cagers close their season in the rubber game with the USF Dons at San Francisco's Civic Auditorium the same night.

Gael fans know the athletes will get their rinsing under the showers. But it is the action prior to this spray that has so much importance. If the local stalwarts get up enough lather they are expected to slip over the two big wins.

These victories would not only mark an impressive opening for the Phoenix and a likewise impressive exit for the Moraga cagers; there would be much added glory. The Phoenix have not defeated a California Bear nine for many seasons. Nor have any of our Varsity cage clans ever taken a series from the Hilltoppers.

Both of the local aggregations are capable of winning. Earl Sheeley, new diamond mentor, appeared on Wednesday. He hopes to add polish in the fielding and hitting departments by Saturday. Sheeley can safely rely on Flannagan or Steeley to turn in a good mound job.

Vince McNally has already proven this season that his court aggregation can whip Wally Cameron's quintet. The Dons evened up the series. That was not due to good play on their part but rather to the sloppy performance of the stale Gaels.

So in the same day let's start and stop with a clean-up.

SEEN IN RENO . . . Empty streets . . . full gambling dens . . . even at nine o'clock in the morning . . . only two new buildings . . . the P.O. and a brewery . . . no new homes . . . residences of wealthy are established only figuratively . . . for six weeks . . . if divorce candidates get a two block lead, the court procedure is finished by the time you arrive . . . gambling away stacks of dollars were shabbily dressed fellows who looked too poor to afford a bar of soap . . . bars of gold probably were more familiar, at that . . . stopped at Truckee on return trip . . . all players got five minutes worth of snow . . . most of it was spent on "Moose" Barnes.

GOOD OLD NOTEBOOK . . . within the next couple of weeks Madigan gym will have an indoor tennis court . . . Don Budge and his racket will aid in the christening . . . Earl Sheeley, new Phoenix tutor, has never coached baseball before . . . Nichelini and Pennino rejected offers to be among famed gridders who sailed away Thursday for Japan where they will play exhibition games . . . the Gael seniors preferred finishing up their education . . . another trip looms up this summer which might find them on a boat bound for Australia to display their grid wares . . . in a check-up of the eligibility list this week it was discovered that Hops Ewart will not be able to compete for the Phoenix any longer . . . he has played the outfield since his enrollment here . . . often did some nice work with the bat, too . . . Bucky Harris is far above his teammates in the hit column in Varsity games to date.

Frosh Nine Victors Over Bloom's Buffet

In a free-for-all hitting contest on the part of the locals, the Gaelet frosh nine Wednesday won an easy 13-3 decision over the Bloom's Buffet stickers. Kelleher did a lot of heavy hitting for the first year horsehiders, and after taking an early-inning lead, they were never seriously threatened.

Bay View Stars Win Over Local Tossers

After showing mid-season form in their first two games in which they tucked two victories under their belt, the Phoenix nine took it on the chin from the Bayview All-Stars, 7 to 4, Saturday afternoon.

The Bayview All-Stars which are otherwise known as Bettencourts All-Stars, are composed of major and minor league stars. A five run rally in the fifth by the All-Stars overtook the Phoenix 2 to 1 lead and vanished the big chance that the local nine had possessed.

Kress Stars

"Red" Kress proved to be the sensation of the afternoon, in the mere fact that he pitched two hitless innings, played shortstop, and collected two for four at the plate, one being a double.

The Phoenix nine were held to three hits which was due to the fact that many "would-be-base-hits" were scratched off in the execution of sensational plays by the All-Stars. In other words, it was the superior personnel of the All-Stars.

Marinovich Connects

Marinovich, second baseman of the Phoenix nine, was the big gunner of the Gael offense, getting two for three at the plate. Other sluggers for the Stars were Lombardi, Cincinnati catcher, who banged out two hits in three trips to the plate, and T. Hafey, another major leaguer, who collected two for four.

Kenealy Seals Trounce Local Varsity Nine, 6-1

Errors proved the downfall of the Saint Mary's baseball team when they lost, 6-1, to the Kenealy Seals here Tuesday. Made up of Coast League and major league stars, the Seals presented a classy aggregation that thrilled the spectators with some brilliant plays.

Galan, of the Chicago Cubs, scored the first run of the game in the second inning. But from then until the seventh no one crossed home plate. In the first half of the seventh the Seals had loaded the bases only to be retired by a beutaful double-play from Steeley to Owens to Magrini.

Phoenix Muff Ten

When the Gaels next came to bat, Steeley whacked out a three-base hit, and Ewart followed with a hit to score Steeley. This was the only run Saint Mary's could gather in.

In the eighth inning Galan garnered a three-base hit, knocking Berger in, and then scored himself on a Gael error. Not satisfied, the Seals went on in the ninth to bring three more runs across the plate, and thus the game ended, a 6-1 victory for the Kenealy Seals.

Although losing the game, Steeley chucked good ball for the Saint Mary's nine, but ten errors by his teammates proved too much for him to overcome.

Stanford Five Downs Slow Gaelets, 37 - 25

With Angelo "Hankus-Pankus" Luisetti lighting up the chief fireworks in the last five minutes of the final half, the Stanford freshmen basketball team managed to throttle a fighting Gaelet aggregation, 37-25 in Stanford Gymnasium last Friday night.

Tied at half time at 12-12, the two first year teams, representing the cream of the freshman hoop crop on the Pacific Coast, fought bitterly down the home stretch, point for point.

With but five minutes of play remaining, Hank got hot and it was all over but the shouting. Throughout the entire evening, the tall San Francisco pivot man, who will likely cause a furor in Conference hoop circles next year, rang up fifteen points for himself and easily won high point honors.

The game started slowly, both teams playing a wary brand of ball. Both sides presented strong defensive bulwarks, and scoring was low. After ten minutes of play the embryonic Gaels hung on to an 8-5 lead.

This was only short-lived bliss, however, for Luisetti and Jones finally got their shots rolling down the network, and half time saw the teams at the dozen-all deadlock.

Then the avalanche came. Hank and company began to hit them from any part of the court, and seemingly could not miss. They dribbled around and passed over the Gaelet guards for plenty of points.

In the meantime, Jenkins and Shock were only able to hit the bucket for a pair of buckets. Wilkins dropped two through a bit earlier, but the damage had been done and the big boy's work was wasted.

Ends Season

Gael Golfers Set For Big Baffy Year

Team Selected for Spring Campaign as Letters Go Out to Rivals

With definite selection of a six man team and the nearness of the San Francisco city championship providing chief sources of interest, golfing stock at Saint Mary's College took a decided upswing in the Moraga sports market this week.

Presley Adams, Jack Allair, Bob Curry, Sam MacCullagh, Hughie Sill and Bill Smith are the half dozen mashie wielders who will represent the Red and Blue in Bay area golfing wars this spring. The choice became final earlier in the week and plans are now being laid for future matches.

First Match March 9th

One such match has been definitely scheduled with a six man team from Saint Ignatius High School in San Francisco. The match will be played on March 9th, two weeks hence, either at Orinda or at San Francisco's Harding Park.

Letters have been mailed to the golfing managers from Stanford, California, the University of San Francisco and Santa Clara, and answers are expected within a fortnight. Upon receipt of answers, the seasonal baffy campaign will become more concrete.

Presley Adams and Bill Smith tee off tomorrow morning in the qualifying round of the San Francisco titular hunt and if they are both up to snuff, this duo should easily find two places in the championship flight.

WASHINGTON STATE DEBATING TEAM TO ARGUE ON CAMPUS

Utah State and Cal Tech Will Also Be Met In Week

Traveling forensic teams, prepared to argue for and against the international munition shipments, will converge on the Moraga Valley early next week to present the local orators with a busy two-day period of debating.

As the first of the engagements a double-header is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon with Washington State College. "Resolved: That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions" will be the subject for discussion.

Afternoon Meetings

One of the meetings will be held at Saint Mary's High School while the other is to take place in La Salle Hall at 3:30 p.m. Alfred Butler, the Washington debate manager, and Leon Wolfstone will form one of the northern teams, and Elmer Ousbey and Dave Gnagey are to compose the other.

The local affirmative case will be presented by Walter Harris, quarterback on the football squad, and Maurice Vieira, and the negative by Carl Schuck and Philip Quittman.

Decision Tilt

Representatives of Utah State Agricultural College are to appear in La Salle Hall on the same evening for a decision contest. The judges will be H. Malcolm Macdonald and Patrick Horgan of the University of San Francisco forensic department.

Munitions, with the campus orators, Henry Floyd and Edward Barry, offering the negative case, will again be the topic for review.

Every alternate year the Utah group makes a visit to this area, and is a regular opponent on the Saint Mary's schedule. They defeated the locals in 1933.

Cal Tech on Wednesday

A third traveling squad, California Institute of Technology, will debate the same arms proposition on Wednesday afternoon at 4 p.m. The Pasadena team, Wallace Johnson and Paul H. Hammond, debate manager, has the negative side to defend.

The affirmative speakers will be Joseph Cassidy, varsity grid fullback, and Joseph Leonard.

Tonight KQW is to broadcast a debate between San Jose State and Saint Mary's concerning Japanese naval parity. Carl Schuck and Joseph Leonard, campus orators, will oppose any change of the status quo because of possible international complications.

INTERVIEW

"Likewise, I believe that it will be helpful to both the stage and motion picture industry. Facts prove that the most successful actors in Hollywood—with the possible exception of Norma Shearer—are those who have served long apprenticeship on the stage. The interchange of stars from stage to screen and vice versa allows them a certain flexibility in their work that is desirable."

When asked to name the best actor or actress on the stage, Mr. Smiddy pointed out that it is almost impossible to single person.

"From my limited experience," he said, "I should say that Catharin Cornell is the first lady of the theater, while Walter Hampden, though dean of the actors, must give place to the youthful and excellent Leslie Howard."

Maxine Canty's Story Bought by N. Y. Journal

"High School Tragedy," a serial novel written by Maxine Canty, wife of Timothy J. Canty '23, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, was released in the New York Evening Journal last week. The story had its pre-release in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, in which it is at present running.

The New York Evening Journal is one of the largest evening papers in the country. The editors chose "High School Tragedy" in preference to a large number of other stories submitted to them.

Mrs. Canty's story is being syndicated throughout the country by King Features Syndicate. This syndicate distributes to over 200 daily newspapers and to over 1300 weekly newspapers.

Frosh Debaters Argue On Japanese Policies

Entering on their collegiate debating career, the freshman team last Saturday evening met the California yearling team comprised of Raymond Rocca and Roger Guichard, in the lounge.

The proposition discussed was: "Resolved: That Japan's policies in China should be approved." La Berge and Grosse of the campus freshman upheld the affirmative side of the case.

1935 Junior Prom Adds New Features to Entertainment

through hurrying to the site of the affair, and an all-around benefit will be seen.

Other classes of the student body have indicated that they will show their appreciation and endorsement of this new policy by supporting the Prom to a man, and then following the same plan at all future social functions, if it proves popular, which it no doubt will.

Along with these two major developments, there comes the next bit of news from Edward Moran, junior prexy, that bid sales have hit a new high during the past week, and from present indications, the third year class will not only break even, something quite unusual itself in Prom archives, but will actually make money.

Sales Will Leap

Although not a great deal of money has been turned in, iron-bound promises of attendance are many and this avers well for those in charge. At such an affair as this, students do not always have the money on hand, but several days before the dance and that night at the door sales jump tremendously.

An attempt is being made to get two or more of the local vocalists, of which there are none better, to supply song entertainment during the evening. At least a pair of the hoped-for trillers will come from the ranks of the football squad.

And so, with favors ready and waiting, more time now allotted to dance to Nick Morrisey's pleasing melodies, and an unprecedented bid sale, plans go along optimistically amongst the members of the Junior class for the "finest Prom in the history of Saint Mary's College."

SENIOR SKETCH

By JOSEPH ALIOTO

Edward Mahan, senior scholar, enjoys the unique distinction of being the only student in Saint Mary's who attended college before he graduated from high school. Not that Ed forged a diploma, or anything like that, to show the Recorder, for such conduct would hardly be edifying on the part of a high school official of the local Knights of Columbus.

But, the fact is that Eureka High School held its commencement exercises in the second week of January, and Mahan enrolled in Saint Mary's during the first week, taking time out from collegiate duties to receive his prep degree seven days later.

Heads Knights

Mahan's record is unique from still another angle. In May he will have been one of the few students in the history of the college to complete the curriculum in three years and a half. This achievement is made possible by the fact that he took on a heavy program each semester and attended two summer sessions.

Ed's extra-curricular life centers mainly around his activities in directing the program of the local Knights of Columbus council in the capacity of grand knight.

Other campus organizations to which he claims active and prominent membership are the Press Club, Sanctuary Society, and the Saint Vincent de Paul Society.

Gael Evangelist

Incidentally, he is among the Gael evangelists who journey to Moraga each week and instruct the children there in the fundamental doctrines of Catholic belief.

Mahan carries the split major of history and law, and upon graduation in May will matriculate to the University of California Law School in Berkeley.

His thesis will be on the eminently practical and alive topic, "The Jury System."

Brother Claudius Talks Continue at Newman

Continuing his series of lectures before the Newman Mothers Club, Brother Claudius spoke on the life of Archbishop Lamy yesterday at Newman Hall in Berkeley.

In his discussion Brother Claudius gave details of the vigorous and dangerous life which Archbishop Lamy led while Bishop of the Southwestern Indian Territory of the United States. He told of a tour of inspection which the Archbishop took during the years 1862 and 1864, which brought him from Santa Fe, New Mexico, through northern Arizona, to San Gabriel Mission in southern California. By means of numerous colored slides he depicted the nature of the country over which the Archbishop passed, giving sidelights concerning the lives of the Hopi and Apache Indians of the territory, with whom he has had personal experience.

The Junior Class extends a cordial invitation to the members of the Alumni to attend the Junior Prom which will be held at the Saint Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco on Friday, March 1. Bids may be obtained at the door.

Veteran Team Meets Santa Clara Senators

For the first time in many years, representatives of the Senate, the varsity team of the University of Santa Clara, are slated to debate on the local platform Wednesday evening when they will exchange arguments on the payment of the soldiers' bonus.

The visitors have the affirmative side of the proposition, "Resolved: That the soldiers' bonus should be paid immediately." The final term is explained as meaning payment by the present session of Congress.

Despite the opposition of the administration, popular sentiment tends toward the compensation. However, where the necessary revenue may be raised is an interesting problem that enters vitally into the question.

Victors Compete

Noel Sherry, Arthur Mott and Joseph Alioto will advance the negative contentions, dealing particularly with the small selfish minorities that are forcing the measure. This team is the same one which turned back the strong forensic squad at San Quentin recently.

As is usual when the two institutions meet for a debate, a decision is to be rendered. The discussion will be held in La Salle Hall commencing at 7:45 p.m.

Clean the Courts

Tennis has been given its first real encouragement at Saint Mary's since Lloyd Budge has taken over the duties of coach this semester. Naturally, the young mentor will have a difficult task in placing a strong squad on the courts.

Inexperienced men and a lack of proper financial support are the main hurdles to be surmounted. Despite this seemingly pessimistic future, the student body looks forward to a comparatively successful year.

When we look over the practice grounds provided, we see that the courts below Augustine Hall are satisfactory except for two which have been allowed to run down. One of them has no net, and the other might just as well have none. In addition, the latter court has become littered with discarded articles and papers, giving an unsightly appearance to the whole place.

This unnecessary condition must be corrected, not only to remove a mar on the campus, but also to provide full facilities that local tennis tournaments may be carried on without embarrassment. The repair of the neglected courts, as mentioned, would also enable the ordinary student to play while the varsity is practicing on the others.

As a courtesy to the new coach, steps in this direction should be undertaken at once by the college authorities.

Advertising Campaign

The campaign on the part of the college to raise the student enrollment here is a necessary thing for the perpetuation of the institution. Such action is nothing new or startling among colleges, and less so for a school as small as Saint Mary's. All other colleges and universities engage in the same activity, and in fact have been doing so for years.

This campaign needs the cooperation of all those connected with the college in any way, whether students, alumni, members of the Saint Mary's Club or interested friends. We as students can do our part—which in the end will be no small factor in increasing the enrollment. As undergraduates, all of us know the benefits, intellectual and spiritual, of attending Saint Mary's, Mother of Men. We have a duty to contact prospects in high school and point out these evident advantages.

Our part is so important in this new college program that it decidedly outweighs all others. Even to those who can't possibly enter this campaign there is need for loyalty to speak only good of the college among friends and enemies alike.

Students and War

The Collegian Peace Poll, which incidentally finds itself out in the cold in as far as the Literary Digest Poll is concerned, ably expresses the opinion of the campus. Saint Mary's undergraduates are confident that the United States can stay out of another great war.

The vote was encouraging on the other questions. Saint Mary's men showed themselves in favor of fighting in case of border invasion, not to bear arms if the nation staged a war of aggression, of building an American Navy and Air force Second to None, of government control of munitions, of universal conscription, and of remaining out of the League of Nations. It is perhaps significant that Saint Mary's, as other Catholic colleges, voted against entry to the League of Nations. In the Literary Digest poll those colleges which have a so-called reputation for liberal education policies, are the colleges in which a majority of undergraduates voted in favor of entry into the League.

The United States could stay out of another war!

This is a comforting concensus of opinion but it comes at a time when the nation is at peace and there is no immediate thought of a giant world battle, and consequently it has little bearing. Yes, the poll shows a gratifying peacetime sentiment for international harmony, students voting much the same as would any others against the general idea of war.

If an immediate threat of war loomed, students would be just as sensible to the fever of patriotism, whether the borders of the United States were invaded or whether this nation was carrying an aggressive invasion of its own.

The Oakland Tribune sums up the problem by saying: "It is only when the test comes that a man may answer the question whether or not he would fight, or that a nation may discover whether or not it can keep out of war. That events shape conclusions and force abrupt changes in attitudes has been proved in this country . . . engaged in a conflict which did so much to make a world poor."

CCC for Cannon Fodder

One of the most pernicious plans proposed in recent months by the military-minded group of the nation is the suggestion of General Douglas MacArthur. He stated to the House appropriations committee, "I think there would be nothing finer than that the men in the CCC camps should be used as a nucleus for an enlisted reserve."

The project must be defended for it is against the traditional spirit of the country which opposes a large organized armed force in peace times. Its proponents argue that it is a mere preparedness measure, but this contention does not seem so impressive when we consider that similar systems have not prevented the nations from engaging in war. Instead, it seems to aggravate international ill-will.

The young men who form the Civilian Conservation Corps joined up with the specific intent to carry on ordinary forestry work. They have accomplished more than any other New Deal group, and it is an unwarranted move to attempt to enlist this civilian enterprise as a military unit.

An increase of $100,000,000 as asked by the War Department for national defense should more than take care of the necessary peace-time protection of the nation. To add the CCC which "will probably be increased to 600,000 youths" from the present 300,000 would make the United States just another goose-stepping, saluting country.

Since militarization of any land destroys personal liberty, we as Americans and Christians oppose the suggested change. The CCC must remain a civilian project.

COLLEGIATE OPINION

Herein is printed weekly the best in university thought.

Legion Publication Condemns Students

In a banner head the Minnesota Legionnaire, official publication of the Minnesota American Legion proclaims "U. Students Ashamed of Aims Vets Fought For" and then proceeds to say no more about these aims. The article attacks un-American activities at the University of Minnesota with specific reference to the Armistice Day anti-war anti-fascist mass meeting held last quarter.

In considering this charge, condemning Minnesota students of casting aspersions on the reasons for which two million American youths went to France in 1918, those reasons must be reviewed. Most boys who volunteered or peaceably submitted to the draft believed that they were fighting to "make the world safe for democracy in the war which was so to 'end all war.'" These worthy aims, used as slogans in every newspaper and by every public speaker during the war years, are certainly nothing any student is ashamed of.

Therefore some college students are interested in drawing up peace action programs to disclose the machinations behind America's entry into the War. Next time war threatens, thinking students want to know the real reasons behind supposed attempts to preserve democracy or safeguard America's honor. University students are not ashamed of the aims for which the veterans of the war thought they were fighting, but they are determined to resist future attempts to set up false patriotic aims in order to build war-time armies.—Minnesota Daily.

At last we have found out. There are 21 capitalists on the campus, according to the Peace Poll, that many voting for the private control of munitions. Maybe they're the ones who possess their own guns and pop out the lights hereabouts.

LAST OF THE ROMANS

Another sterling actor has gone. News came of the death in his eighties of Frederick Warde, in collaboration with the late Lewis James, long an exponent of the best tradition of Shakespearean drama. Besides being an actor, and a good one, Warde was an agreeable and scholarly lecturer on Shakespearean subjects. His lecture-recitals on such topics as "The Fools of Shakespeare" were stimulating and artistic. He came to California frequently, made his home here for many years and enacted the role of Padre Junipero Serra in John Steven McGroarty's San Gabriel Mission Play.

MENCKEN ON COLLEGES

In the Current Digest for January is an article by the playboy sage of Baltimore, H. L. Mencken. "College Puritans" is an analysis of higher education based upon something sounder than fashion and flippancy. For once, at least, Mr. Mencken has become history-minded.

Our American colleges, he claims in substance, have exalted the material values of learning because the English Puritans, for all their sanctimoniousness, were worldly-minded gentry. They didn't believe in pleasure, but they did believe in wealth. Suspicious of beauty, they were sensitive to the jingle of coin. That commercial Philistine attitude, Mr. Mencken thinks, exercised a disastrous formative influence on American colleges.

The mediaeval monk, from whom the Puritan received the precious torch of learning, had a bigness about him, a rich and varied conception of what education is. As Mr. Mencken puts it, "His learning was anything but a dull snuffling of the Scriptures. He also frequented the profane authors, and there was in all his studies an innocent hedonism that showed itself in his delights in pungent fables and beautiful manuscripts. The Puritans tried to improve on this system, and ended by ruining it."

Mr. Mencken rightly opines that what is most amiss in our American colleges is the wrong kind of student and the wrong kind of instructors. A good many young men who come to college should have engaged in some useful form of industry. Neither God nor nature intended them for intellectual pursuits. And as for instructors, with the exception of that saving remnant who are at once scholars, teachers and gentlemen, "the rest of the average college faculty slopes down hill sharply to a rabble of quacks and racketeers." Yee, he concedes, "the best professor for an idiot is a quack."

SHAKESPEARE ONCE MORE

Many readers, on the campus and off, will be glad to know that Mr. Ronald Telfer and the San Francisco Shakespearean Repertory Players are offering two notable productions on Tuesday, March 5, and Thursday, March 14, at the Community Playhouse, Sutter street, San Francisco. "Love's Labour's Lost," a drama rarely staged, will be given on March 5. Mr. Telfer and his associates appeared in this play last autumn and achieved a distinguished success.

The other play in this semester's repertoire is the fine historical drama, "King Richard II." Saint Mary's men may recall that our Student Players, under the competent direction of John Nesbitt, produced this drama in that same Community Playhouse. A good many years ago—in 1916, to be exact—"King Richard II" was presented in the Alumni Gymnasium at the old Saint Mary's College with Leo A. Cunningham in the role of the unfortunate King and James L. Hagerty as Northumberland. I recall at least one capable production of the same play at the University of California.

"King Richard II" should not be overlooked by any student of the drama. Whatever the reason, professional producers have somehow neglected it. The Stratford-upon-Avon Players had it in their repertoire several years ago and won the plaudits of a discriminating San Francisco audience. Rich in poetry, in character contrast, in pageantry, the drama gives a profound insight into both English history and human character.

Mr. Telfer's productions are moderately priced. Tickets run from $1 to 50c. And every seat in the Community Playhouse is a good seat.

Campus Comment

Editor of the Collegian,
Dear Sir:

It was with a feeling of deepest regret that I witnessed the defeat of the proposed amendment to the Constitution at this morning's meeting of the Associated Students.

Here, at last, was an opportunity to wrest debating activities from the hands of a select few and place them in the hands of the student body where they rightfully belong. The fact that the select few still wields the power is much to be lamented.

But by a majority vote, the amendment was defeated. It is dead and we must let it sleep in peace. Debating at Saint Mary's seemed destined not to be a purely student body activity.

Since this is so, it is my firm belief that the Associated Students should adopt a measure whereby financial aid to the debating teams should be refused definitely and decisively, and permission to debate as representatives of the Associated Students of Saint Mary's College be flatly denied.

The situation as it exists is intolerable. Corporations are not the only organizations in California which have unintelligently been given unjust privileges.

Very sincerely,
EDWARD RYAN.

MARK THE FUTURE

What the future holds as figured out by students in the University of Minnesota law school in Minneapolis:

"A" men make the teachers.

"B" men make the judges.

"C" men make the money.

"And," added a wit, "the "D" men make the Congressmen."

WIMPY APPEAL

WHICH IS CLEVER

A writer at Wellesley College, who masquerades under the name of "The News Hound," suggests a proper creed for herself and all other college columnists:

Never
Be too clever.

WHERE'S DIOGENES?

In an experiment to detect cheating, a professor of psychology at San Diego State College found that twenty-four students, out of a class of fifty-one, were honest; fourteen weren't above cheating and thirteen were "doubtful."

DON'T WE ALL?

"Sometimes," muses Alfred Alexander, columnist of the State College Aztec (San Diego), "especially at the end of semester, I get pretty gloomy about this business of acquiring a college education. I ran across some blue books I had filled out during previous examinations the other day. The erudition which was mine when I wrote in those pages amazed me. I had glibly written about things which a year later I didn't ecen suspect existed."

ANATOMY

The Texas Scalpel, tells us that a little negro school girl, down in Florida, in answer to the question, "What is anatomy," wrote the following:

"Anatomy is a human body. It is divided into three parts, the haid, the cheist and the stummick. The haid holdes the skull and the brains if they is any, the cheist holds the liver and the lites, and the stummick holdes the entrails and the vowels which are a, e, i, o and u, sometimes w and y."
